

Hindsight: We All Have It

But it doesn't contribute very much toward success. By buying a home you can save, for yourself and family, the profit which goes into the landlord's pocket; and this is FORESIGHT—the quality which makes for success.

LOTS OF FUN IN "THE BLACK FLAG" TONIGHT

The production tonight by the Ellersford of "The Black Flag" will surely result in a crowded house, for to many it will be a novelty, and those who remember it in the days gone by, when Ned Thorne played the hero and Nat Goodwin the Jew, Lazarus, will gladly welcome it again. "The Black Flag" is recognized as one of the best melodramas ever written and it has been played with great success throughout the English-speaking world. Its action takes place in Dorchester, England, and the terrible penal establishment on the Isle of Portland, on the British coast. In the latter scene the "hard labor" convicts are seen at work in the quarry and their jail break and the hoisting of the black flag to announce the fact are among the sensational incidents of the play. "The Black Flag" contains a strong heart interest and an abundance of genuine comedy. True Boardman will be the hero, William Marion the villain, Hernandez will play his favorite role of "Sim Lazarus," a London Jew, and Miss Luce will appear as "Ned," the cabin boy. There will also be specialties by the Osborns, Miss Luce and Lavigne.

At the matinee tomorrow afternoon "For Her Children's Sake" will be given in order that the little ones will have an opportunity of seeing Sophie and Gordon Osborn as "Rosie" and "Bobbie."

HONOLULU REPRESENTED.

President Charles W. Elliot of Harvard University, who is being entertained by H. H. Bridgman of Brooklyn at his summer home "Fox Hill," Norfolk, Conn., was the chief guest at a dinner last night following an address to the townspeople on "The Durable Satisfaction in Life." There were also present, Professor M. I. Pupin of Columbia College, Charles Hopkins Clark of Hartford, Professor Bueler, headmaster of the Hotchkiss School at Lakeville, Robbins Anderson of Honolulu, L. S. Miller, general manager of the Central New England Railroad, and Mr. Taylor, an architect of New York City.—Boston Transcript.

Through an error in the registration of her birth, Mile. Deschamps of France was listed as a boy. The law regards her as a man. She was recently forbidden to marry and must do military service unless the law can be set aside, which will involve long and intricate formalities.
